The Kaye/Bassman Academic Obstetrics and Gynecology Practice is a devoted team of highly skilled and accomplished executive search professionals, serving as trusted advisors to many of the nation's most prominent academic healthcare institutions. Our team is eminently well versed in the language, funding mechanisms, and varying missions of Academic Medicine. Our team of academic medicine and women's health search specialists is dedicated exclusively to this arena, giving us a deep understanding of the market and the forces shaping it. We stay closely attuned to evolving workforce and recruitment challenges, compensation trends, legislative developments, emerging risks, and advancements in research and care delivery.

Our expertise extends well beyond individual searches. Through longstanding relationships with leading institutions and physicians, we understand the institutional priorities, leadership dynamics, and physician perspectives that drive successful recruitment and retention.

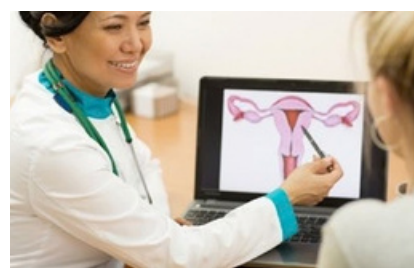

We approach every search as a strategic leadership engagement, not simply a placement. Our clients gain access to highly sought-after talent, informed market intelligence, and the specialized perspective needed to attract and retain exceptional leaders in women's health.

The result is lasting value that extends well beyond the search, helping organizations strengthen leadership and advance their strategic priorities.

Kaye/Bassman's Women's Health practice has the expertise and market knowledge to recruit exceptional physician leaders across the full spectrum of Women's Health. Our team conducts highly specialized searches for Department Chairs, Vice Chairs, Division and Section Chiefs, Medical Directors, Program Directors, and other key clinical and academic leadership positions.

We understand that identifying the right leader requires much more than finding a qualified physician. The right candidate must align with an institution's clinical priorities, academic mission, research objectives, culture, and long-term strategic vision. Whether an institution is seeking a Chair to transform an entire department, a Vice Chair to strengthen its leadership structure, a Chief to build a subspecialty program, or a Director to advance a strategic initiative, Kaye/Bassman Women's Health practice has the ability to identify and secure the leaders who can make a meaningful and lasting impact.

Kaye/Bassman has earned the reputation of placing OB/GYN physicians and leadership at key institutions across the nation, as well as has a demonstrated track record of success in building departments and raising the medical education and clinical research profiles of new OB/GYN programs, especially in rural and underserved areas. We place a tremendous value on the long-term client and candidate relationships, built over many years.
